

MELBOURNE PRESS CLUB MENTORING PROGRAM

APPLICATIONS OPEN: 2022/23 MENTORING PROGRAM

Applications for the 2022/23 Melbourne Press Club Mentoring Program are now open.

This initiative, run in partnership with Swinburne University of Technology, offers developing journalists the opportunity to learn from experienced colleagues in a 12-month program.

Mentees are connected with senior colleagues from different media organisations, giving them the opportunity to benefit from the insights, observations and wisdom offered by those more experienced in the field.

"We are dedicated to finding compatible pairs and supporting them throughout the life of the program," says MPC Chief Executive Cathy Bryson.

"Mentoring is a truly valuable learning experience for all involved, and opportunities like these are needed now more than ever to ensure the next generation of journalists are equipped to thrive in a challenging and evolving news media environment."

The program is designed to support working journalists with up to seven years professional experience. We encourage applicants from diverse backgrounds and from all regions of Victoria.

The MPC Mentoring Program is grateful for the support of Swinburne in providing this program.

We anticipate successful mentees will become members of the MPC.

Please visit our website for further information and the online application form. For specific enquiries, or if you are interested in becoming a mentor, email mentoring@melbournepressclub.com or call (03) 8080 3610.

