

Planning Victoria's post-COVID Business Recovery

The Victorian Chamber of Commerce and Industry is the voice of business in the state. Its role as champion for businesses of all sizes has been more important in the last 16 months than at any other point in the organisation's 170-year history.

VCCI Chief Executive Paul Guerra will speak to the Melbourne Press Club about his experience acting as the conduit between business and government throughout the COVID-19 crisis.

He will also update us on the Victoria Summit 2021 – a program led by Victorian leaders from industry, unions, educational institutions, and the community sector. Summit participants will develop a vision, pathways and actions to create a playbook for our state's short, medium, and long-term future.
